CHRISTIAN YOUTH CHRONICLE

301 College Main, College Station, Texas 77840

This publication is dedicated to

JOE R. BARNETT

Minister for the Broadway Church of Christ, Lubbock, Texas

Barnett is a true friend of young people and youth workers, and was the one responsible for encouraging the Central Church of Christ of Amarillo, Texas to support me as the first full-time Minister of Youth among churches of Christ (June, 1965).

DAN E. WARDEN

Preface

For many years members of the churches of Christ have been interested in ministering to the needs of Christian young people. Solomon's admonition, "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it" (Prov. 22:6), has been emphasized over and over again. Some of the most popular classes of the many Teacher Training Series are those designed for individuals interested in teaching teenagers.

Young people are needed in the work of the church because of their willingness to accept a challenge. Dr. Sam Proctor, former Associate Director of the Peace Corps, once said, "You know we found a strange and interesting thing when we talked to young people about going into the Peace Corps. The rougher and the harder and the tougher we made it, the greater the response." The leaders of many congregations have realized this characteristic of youth and have initiated many programs to involve young people in the work of the church.

Even though youth work has been the part-time responsibility of many ministers through the years, the full-time, fully-supported Minister of Youth has existed for less than six years among churches of Christ. The Central Church of Christ of Amarillo, Texas began full support of Dan E. Warden as Minister of Youth Development in June, 1965. Ben H. Zickefoose has probably worn the title Minister of Youth longer than any other individual. Since 1964 the College Church of Christ of Abilene, Texas has partially supported Zickefoose, a full-time faculty member of the Abilene Christian College Physical Education Department.

Most congregations securing the services of a full-time or part-time Minister of Youth have realized substantial growth in attendance and in accomplishments for the Lord. Parents with teenagers who are new to a community usually seek out those congregations with an active youth program. It is only logical to assume that a designated Minister of Youth will give more personal attention to the problems and needs of the young people who worship with him. The Minister of Youth usually has a keen desire to encourage young Christians to become active and involved in the total work program of the church. Ben H. Zickefoose once described the Youth Work Program of the College congregation in Abilene: "In one sense the Youth Work Program is a laboratory for Christian Living, that is, one is taught how to live the Christian life in the Bible class on Sunday morning; and in the Youth Work Program, he is given the opportunity to live what he has learned."

This publication, "Ministers of Youth, 1971," has been designed to provide a pictorial and biographical directory of full-time, part-time, salaried, and non-salaried youth workers among churches of Christ throughout the world. This directory does not claim to be complete since there is no fool-proof system of securing the most up-to-date information concerning the growing army of youth workers.

This directory should prove to be useful to elders, preachers, and youth workers in order to strengthen areas of communication. It should also be a valuable aid to congregations looking for a Minister of Youth. Those congregations planning a Teacher Training Series will be able to use this publication to determine the qualifications and experience of a large number of individuals who could instruct teachers of the youth department.

Guide To The Number Key

To save space in the biographical sketches, the following numbers serve as keys to understanding certain valuable information concerning the youth workers mentioned. The key numbers are listed following the name of the congregation and the title.

- 1 —Fully supported Minister of Youth.
- 2 —Fully supported minister with youth work as only a part of the responsibilities.
- 3 —Partially supported by a congregation.
- 4 —Self-supported Minister of Youth.
- 5a—Leads singing.
- 5b—Preaches.
- 5c—Also serves as an Educational Director.

Example: Congregation: Central (Minister of Youth—1, 5a, 5b). This abbreviated information means that the youth worker works with the Central Church of Christ, is identified by the congregation as the Minister of Youth, leads singing, and preaches on occasions.

Example: Congregation: Main Street (Minister of Youth and Education—4, Life insurance salesman, 5a, 5c). This youth worker serves the Main Street Church of Christ, is called Minister of Youth and Education, is a self-supported worker, earns a living as a life insurance salesman, leads singing, and also serves as the Educational Director.
